

Response to the Utah Division of Parks and Recreation:

It appears that the primary concern you had was with the water quality of Utah Lake and how it could be affected by the proposed distribution plan. The intent of the proposed distribution plan is to protect the Utah Lake water rights not only in quantity, but in quality as well. There is a study currently being undertaken by the Central Utah Water Conservancy District in which the impact of upstream development on the quality of water in Utah Lake is supposed to be examined. We are assuming that the distribution plan will not have any adverse impact on the quality on water in Utah Lake. It appears that the water users, specifically the Central Utah Water Conservancy District and the Bureau of Reclamation, need to address this issue and take appropriate measures in implementing the Bonneville Unit Project to protect the water quality of Utah Lake.
